

Free Advice

Delivering insight in uncertain times

The impact of this global COVID-19 pandemic is serious and it affects us all, which is why our industry specialists are offering their business advice, insights and guidance for free.

The world is facing challenges never seen before which has put an unprecedented level of pressure on businesses around the globe.

With no end in sight, the stock market continues to tumble and local news broadcasts are shining a light on companies which are already on the brink of destruction, with so many jobs in the balance.

To help businesses survive the coming weeks and months, our global network of industry specialists are donating their time to offer free business advice. There is no obligation here, this isn't about selling anything, this is purely about doing what we can to help other companies remain operational, especially if that means keeping people in jobs.

As we all face this global crisis together, our international network of industry specialists are donating their time to offer free business advice to help you weather the storm.

HOW CAN I RECEIVE FREE ADVICE FROM AN ERA CONSULTANT?

- 1 Visit en.expensereduction.com/free-advice/ to fill out our online form and submit your details.
- 2 Tell us about your concerns. Provide details of your industry and any cost categories that you feel require immediate actioning within your business. We will provide bespoke advice on these matters and anything else in between.
- 3 Connect. Once we understand your specific business needs, we will team you up with the most relevant industry specialist within our network. They will connect with you via video call to provide valuable and tailored advice for your business.

For over 25 years, Expense Reduction Analysts have helped organisations around the world optimise their costs, reduce inefficiencies and unlock profitability. Now more than ever, our services are vital for companies trying to weather the storm.

Some Benefits of Our Free Advice

Maintain
Cash Flow

Retain Jobs

Preserve
Supply Chains

Click here to submit your details & begin your journey with ERA.

