A new regulation applies to the return of drivers from Serbia and Bosnia and Herzegovina to Slovenia: all those who have not been out of Slovenia for more than 14 days do not have to be quarantined upon returning (the condition is that the driver has a place of residency in SLO). Additionally, it is no longer possible to transit only with authorization to another state to get a truck – more on the link <https://www.uradni-list.si/glasilo-uradni-list-rs/vsebina/2020-01-1031/odlok-o-odrejanju-in-izvajanju-ukrepov-povezanih-s-preprecevanjem-sirjenja-covid-19-na-mejnih-prehodih-na-zunanji-meji-in-na-kontrolnih-tockah-na-notranjih-mejah-republike-slovenije>

Regarding passenger vehicles, as of May 20, Slovenia has opened its traffic to Croatian citizens – the quarantine upon returning is no longer required.

As of May 15, Slovenia is the first European country to lift the state of emergency, but precautionary measures remain in force.
